(2) During each month of the first 12 months in respect of which an employer employs a qualifying employee, the amount of the employment tax incentive in respect of that qualifying employee, if the monthly remuneration of the employee is— 10

- (a) R2 000 or less, is an amount equal to 50 per cent of the monthly remuneration of the employee;

- (c) more than R4 000 but less than R6 001, is an amount determined in accordance with the following formula: 15

$$X = A - (B \times (C - D))$$

in which formula—

(2) If an employer does not reduce employees' tax in the amount of the employment tax incentive despite that amount being available to that employer, the sum of the amounts by which the employer would have been entitled to reduce employees' tax must be treated as an excess contemplated in subsection (1) in the first month that the employer reduces employees' tax in the amount of the tax incentive available to the employer.

(3) If, by virtue of section 8, an employer may not reduce employees' tax in the amount of the employment tax incentive available to that employer, the sum of the amounts by which the employer would have been entitled to reduce employees' tax payable by that employer if the employer had not been subject to section 8 must be treated as an excess contemplated in subsection (1) in the first month that the employer is not subject to section 8.

(4) The amount by which the employment tax incentive exceeds the employees' tax contemplated in subsection (1) on the first day of the month following the end of the period for which the employer is required to render a return in terms of paragraph 14(3)(a) of the Fourth Schedule to the Income Tax Act may not exceed R6 000 in respect of each qualifying employee employed by the employer on that date.
